The Birthplace and largest growing region of Colombia coffee, Antioquia has a rich coffee growing tradition dating back over 175 years. With one of the most geographically diverse regions in Colombia, Antioquia's coffees are of notable balance and sweetness. "Supremo" is a grading term for exportable coffee from Colombia based on screen size, not related to variety or cupping profile. Often Supremo and Excelso beans are harvested from the same plant, but they are sorted by size.

CUPPING NOTES: Dried Fruit, Graham Cracker & Nougat, with a Medium Acidity and a Medium Body: A Round, Juicy Body, Very Sweet and Lush.

NOT JUST COFFEE, YOUR COFFEE.
