Popayán is the capital city of Cauca, in southern Colombia. The coffee region is on the plateau where the Andes mountains meet Ecuador. The region's rich soil, from the nearby Purace Volcano, is perfect for growing coffee. Farmers have less than 5 hectares of land each; they handpick the cherries, pulp and wash them. A dry mill purchases the dry parchment and handles the final steps for export.

CUPPING NOTES: Amazing Bright Acidity, Medium Body, Savory Black Currant, Caramel and Citrus Fruit.

NOT JUST COFFEE, YOUR COFFEE.
