Ixtapa is a branded name, not a mill or region, around the idea of creating a consistent and price effective coffee year after year. Farmers in the area have developed and retained techniques for growing, harvesting and processing coffee "bean by bean." Weather conditions (8 °C to 24 °C), geographical (Andean Rainforest) and the geological region determine the production of high quality coffee, with relatively short harvest periods. The Museum of Culture Coffee is also in the area, sharing the traditions of Colombian coffee.

CUPPING NOTES: Medium Acidity and Body, Bittersweet Chocolate, Savory Black Currant, Dried Fruit, Great Complexity.

NOT JUST COFFEE, YOUR COFFEE.
